PERU GOLD FIND DIDN'T PAN OUT: M'CUNE ACCUSED

Stockholders of Company Formed After Discovery Cause Promoter's Arrest.

Raymond McCune, son of a late millionaire railroad prospector of Salt Lake City, was to-day held in $20,000 ball by United States Commissione Houghton on a charge of having schemed to defraud some of the mos prominent men of Wilmington, Del. by representing to them that he had discovered wonderful gold fields in the wilds of Peru. A ball bond was furnished by the National Surety Company and examination was fixed for June 12

When the Wilmington United State District Attorney sent word here that McCune was wanted the local author-ities remembered that on April 11 RICH GIRL OF 18 McCune's wife, who was formerly Miss May Hooker of Kentucky, had reported that her apartment at No. 135 West Seventy-ninth Street had been broken into and about $20,000 worth of her jewels taken. A strange feature of the alleged robbery is that a purse said to have contained several thousand dollars in cash was left un molested on a chiffonier.

McCune, who is a sun-tanned, cleancut man of thirty years, is charged with selling between $300,000 and $400,000 worth of stock which is declared to represent little if any value. This stock was issued by the Peruvian Exploration Company Before moving wine agent, who once was charged to Wilmington, where he is said to with keeping a gambling house, have organized the Peruvian company, McCune was interested in the Maranon with Bonnie Glass, his dancing part-River Placers Company, which had ner, at the Hotel Van Courtlandt. In Central Galicia a battle of far-reaching importance is under way. The Russians claim to have made progress on both flanks of the Austro-German forces, but apparently have not been able to menace their comnunications. The main struggle is being carried on along the San, from Przemysl northward for a distance of about sixty miles. Petrograd dispatches admit the Austro-German forces still retain the advantage.

An official report from Petrograd states that attempts of Turkish forces to advance along the Black Sea coast have failed. It is said the Russians aptured two towns.

The British sailing vessel Glenholm was sunk by a German submarise off the Irish coast yesterday. The crew was permitted to leave the ship before it was torpedoed, and escaped.

Washington is convinced that the German reply to Wilson's note will open the way to further friendly discussion.
